

The single-neuron amygdala affect–object contrast is bounded far below a detectable effect (negative per-session)

